Mission Statement:

*In these Late Days before the New Age breaks in upon us:
We strive to prepare by embracing traditions Sacred to our Miami Valley:
Along the path first blazed by Tecumseh; and furthered by many...
Traditions of Love, Work and Knowledge; The Quest for Wisdom.*

Thursday, October 20, 2011
Wisdom Quest Community
Yellow Springs, Ohio

Greetings again for our "September/Equinox" Meeting: Thursday, October 20 at our New Location! 2884 US Route 68; South of Yellow Springs Ohio at "Goes Station"

Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Yellow Springs
2884 US Route 68;
Yellow Springs, Ohio
45387

About three miles South of Yellow Springs on Route 68 on the East side of the road. Look for the road sign that says:

"Goes Station"

Note: If you are a first time visitor to the Fellowship you might find the Meeting House difficult to find, particularly if you are coming from the north. Trees block the view making it difficult to see until you are almost next to it. To help, watch for the signs for Goes Station. Once you see Goes Station, the Fellowship is on the east side of the road. If you miss the first drive-way into the Fellowship, there is a second one a few yards down the road...

Speaker! George Katchmer... Will speak on:

"Theology of the Multiverse"

George is a local attorney in Yellow Springs for Estate Planning, Divorce; even criminal... But a fascinating Spiritual Journey led George Katchmer to Yellow Springs Ohio to join a select Pantheon of luminaries beginning with the Shawnee Chief and Shaman, Tecumseh

Thursday, September 22, 2011 Wisdom Quest Meeting at our New Location!

View heading South out of Yellow Springs Ohio on U.S. Route 68. About two miles South of town...

Unitarian Universalist Fellowship will be on left; with two driveways to enter. Look for "Goes Station" Sign
2884 US Route 68
Yellow Springs, Ohio 45387

"Theology for the Multiverse"

Theology is a science and its object is God. All theologies to date have dealt with this subject with the assumption that there is only one universe and only four (at most) dimensions. Modern physics, just as the physics of Aristotle, however, has something to add to theology so that there is a melding of the sciences in a multi-dimensional, multi-ontological, MULTIVERSE. Thus, there is a need for a Theology of the Multiverse.

Four Dimensions: 4 Pictures; and every one tells a story.. Could this be a Revival? Rhymes with Survival! Just imagine, a "Revival" at the U.U. Fellowship!

I do not go into muddy fields and look for lights in the sky.

I do not go into dark, damp houses and look for ectoplasm.

I did, however read "The Architecture of the Intelligible Universe in the Philosophy of Plotinus". At Villanova. In graduate school. While drinking liqueurs and coffee and smoking Gauloises in a comfy room. There was also the "Celestial Hierarchy" of Denis the Areopogite. This was years after I discovered Crowley in a coffee house off-campus and made a pilgrimage to a now lost bookstore off Sansom Street in Philadelphia. The Qabala followed.

What struck me about all of this was the idea of "planes" of existence....and...the creatures that inhabit them.

Years later, after a tour through Reich and Jung and Chinese science and medicine, I found a throwaway paragraph about Voodoo in a book on candle magicand then the fun began!

Intermediate Beings! Back to Plotinus, Denis, Crowley, the Qabala, etc. (and let us not forget Whateley Carrington and Thomas Lethbridge!)

I was depressed. The pressures of my law practice were crushing me....so I began reading about theoretical physics. Oh boy! I couldn't make this stuff up! Do you know that there are 21 dimensions. Yeah man. And innumerable universes. Wow. (I went to school in the Sixties). So Planes and...and... and...dimensions, man!

Did I mention that I was in a seminary last Summer? Well, Theology is a science. Its object is God. But, but, but, but: the theology we all know is based on one universe and four dimensions.

And if you go out into the muddy field and look up. Or the dark, damp house....you know it ain't true.

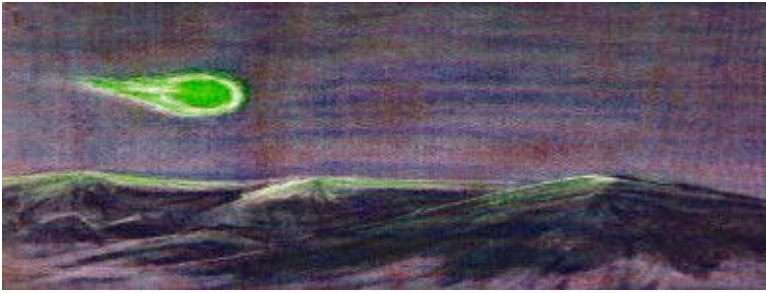

There must be a theology for the Multiverse to fit in all of the planes, and dimensions, and beings, and aliens, and Lwa, and Orisha, and God.

REVIVAL! WITH GEORGE KATCHMER...? Might as well: If not now, then when?

Could it be something in the Water? You know, I think it is; So, Drink Deeply My Pretty; and you'll Be Back...

Sign and Portent: Green Fireball

This portrait of Tecumseh is from B. J. Lossing's Pictorial Field- Book of the War of 1812, and is based on a pencil sketch made by Pierre Le Dru, a trader at Vincennes, during the War of 1812.

Tecumseh was born in 1768 near a spring "three arrow flights" southeast of the principal town of the Chalahgawtha sept of the Shawnee. This was just one of five towns that would take the name of the sept, all called Chillicothe. We know it as Oldtown now, but the original settlers called it Old Chillicothe. The spring appears to be located very close to Tecumseh Elementary School on Old Springfield Pike, perhaps on the grounds of the Ohio Division of Wildlife District 5 Headquarters and fish hatchery.

Tecumseh's father was Pucksinwah, chief of the Kispokotha sept. Nearly six hundred of his sept were traveling to Chillicothe for a great council of the five septs to discuss the growing tide of whites who were pouring into their lands from the East. As her time of birthing grew near, his wife Methotasa, was unable to complete even the short journey to the village.

As Pucksinwah stared at the sky on this night, he saw a huge meteor streak across from the north, leaving a trail of greenish-white flame. It lasted for fully 20 seconds and was unlike anything he had ever seen before. This was the Panther spirit that the old men sometimes spoke of, and a good sign indeed. As the women around the fire talked excitedly and pointed to the heavens, a baby's cry came from the shelter. Usually a child was not named for several days while the parents waited for a sign to indicate what the great spirit Moneto wished the child to be called, but this child must surely be named Tecumseh, The Panther Passing Across.

Pantheon of Luminaries

Emerson King carried the Ball and paid some dues in these parts for many years. A Conscientious Objector during the Great War of the 20th Century, Emerson founded the local Phoenix and Wisdom Quest Chapters of the U.S. Psychotronics Association, which meets still in Yellow Springs. With supportive help from wife Karen, they made our Miami Valley of Ohio into a worthy successor of Tecumseh, Horace Mann, Helen Birch (as in Glen Helen)

"Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity."

Horace Mann, early Educator and First President of Antioch College: 1852-1859

Glen Helen we know; on Summer's Day or after hours for a Love's tryst. Gurgling water or Hallucinogenic visions of Indians and Bears, still lurking for a drink of Healing Springs Water.

Sincerely,
